WTC Committee Member and Tennis Central Board Member, John Williams)

Wanganui Tennis Club member, Robyn Walford is the lucky winner of a return trip for two to London. This Tennis New Zealand (TNZ) "Play & Go" nationwide prize was awarded to the club because of all TNZ's affiliated clubs, Wanganui was judged to have submitted the most complete database of financial members who were willing to receive TNZ's weekly e-newsletter "Passing Shots."

The club's committee decided to award the prize by organising a draw of all its members who had paid their 2009/10 season subscriptions by 31 October 2009. Constable Karl Rowe confirmed that all these member's names were in the draw, and the draw was made by the club's Patron, Barbara Griffin, on Thursday, 11 March in the presence of Constable Rowe.

Should the lucky "Play & Go" winner wish to organise their trip to coincide with the 2010 Wimbledon Grand Slam tournament, TNZ has agreed to ensure, through their association with Great Britains' LTA, that the winner will be able to obtain the "hard to get" tickets to Wimbledon.

In talking to John Williams, the Wanganui Tennis Club's committee member who prepared the club's "Play & Go" entry, a delighted Robyn Walford confirmed she hopes to include Wimbledon in the trip to London she and her husband plan to take as a result of winning the prize.

Tennis Central would also like to congratulate Robyn, and thank Wanganui Tennis Club Committee for their efforts in helping TNZ and TCR to compile the National Membership Database.
